Overview. The volume "How to teach English with Technology" is about language and second language teaching using the devices provided by the latest computer and the Internet technology. The authors, Gavin Dudeney and Nicky Hockly, teachers to integrate computers and ICT into their classes. How to teach English with Technology, integrates theory and practice. In this sense, the authors intend to inform as well as propose ways in which to incorporate teaching tips, ideas and classroom plans as well as provide activities for. In language teaching Technology Technology in language teaching is not new. Indeed, technology has been around in language teaching for decades - one might argue for centuries, if we classify the blackboard as a form of technology. Recorders, language laboratories and video have been in use since the 1960s and 1970s, and are still used in classrooms around the world. English, as an international language, is being used in technologically mediated contexts. Technology, especially the Internet, presents us with new opportunities for authentic tasks and materials, as well as access to a wealth of ready-made ELI materials.
